

Class 11

The year is over and what a year it has been!

We have had an exceptionally busy final half term and the children have worked hard right until the end.

Our big focus this half term was our production, Joseph and his Amazing Technicolour Dreamcoat. The children have been busy singing, acting, dancing and making props. We have unearthed some hidden talents from the children and they were incredibly proud of their final performance!

We have tied our English lessons with our PHSCE lessons and looked at changes.

The children read extracts from the book The Boy in the Dress by David Walliams. As a class, we explored what the characters from the book must have experienced.

We also looked at news stories that had similar themes to the book and debated the issue of equality in schools.

Changes have been a theme throughout this last term and Class 11 has been preparing themselves for their next big change, high school. On the week of 3rd July, all the children took part in their transition day at their new school. There were a lot of nervous faces that morning; however, the children came back incredibly excited about their next adventure. We had excellent reports back from the schools and the children showed that at this stage of the year; they were still great ambassadors for the school!
